Hollis Cook Hosts Arizona Park Services Monument Tour

by Kate Hargrave

Courthouse Director Hollis Cook and about twenty other Park officials, many of whom had traveled to Tombstone from Phoenix and Tucson for the Board Meeting held last Thursday, October 10th at Schieffelin Hall, ventured out to Schieffelin Monument for a tour of the recently-acquired state park site.

The meeting began at 9:00am, where State Parks Officials met with the Arizona Historical Society to discuss the coordination of efforts to develop and enhance tourist centers around the state. Around noon, the group took a break for luncheon at Nellie Cashman's, after which they followed Director Cook out to the monument to view the site.

After the group had assembled at the monument, Cook gave a 20 minute presentation, which included some interesting historical facts about Ed Scheiffelin's life and death.

Cook also pointed out the GLO Survey marker at the edge of the site, and brought the group up to date on progress made to improve, and future plans to maintain the area. He stated that the first goal is to erect a gated fence around the area before cleaning of the site, including removal of graphitti from the cairn and surrounding rocks, will begin.

Cook also informed the group that The Friends of Tombstone Courthouse has raised $200 to be put toward improvements on this historic spot which marks the tomb of the Founder of Tombstone.

THE NOT O.K LIVERY

Well pardners, talking about shooting yourself in the foot. Has greed and crass marketing competition reared its ugly head in Tombstone? Like folks in town needed anything more to think about than friends, food and fun during Helldorado weekend 2002, it seems much of the focus was on the circus that came to town, unscheduled and uninvited. The circus we refer to is the injunction served to two of the primary sponsors of the 73-year-old event. They were told not to perform any show and call it the Gunfight at the O.K. Corral.

Helldorado is basically a fundraising event; funds generated after expenses are donated to assist local interests, such as the elderly, schools and youth activities. Helldorado is an effort by the people, for the people and of the people of Tombstone. The all-volunteer organizational groups involved in the injunction, are from Helldorado Inc., and Vigilantes. The Tombstone Vigilantes and the Lion's Club are also sponsors of the event and all have been associated with Helldorado since their inceptions. Without these non-profit charity organizations, there would be no Helldorado. No Helldorado means a dramatic reduction in tourism that no doubt would lead to many businesses drying up and blowing away in this arid economical climate.

Just as the many volunteers worked tirelessly to complete last minute details, Helldorado Incorporated, was notified that they had to remove a sign from the Helldorado performance stage that referred to a place known as the O.K. Corral, a name that is a (registered trademark). At the same time the Western reenactment group know as the Tombstone Vigilantes were notified by an attorney that they could not refer to their show as the Gunfight at the (registered trademark). They were told not to call it the gunfight, nor to indirectly refer to it as the (registered trademark). "Helldorado acted immediately to take down the sign, stated President Steve Reeder. "We just thought, O.K. we'll just do this. "Bob Love, owner of the (registered trademark) felt that the Vigilante group was trying to portray the Helldorado site as the location of the gunfight. They, he, wanted us to take the sign down, which was made by a local artist (name withheld) many years ago just to spruce up

SELECTIVE ENFORCEMENT PLAGUES TOMBSTONE

Michael Drawdy and Jamie Marsh, together again thick as thieves in Crystal Palace over the Helldorado weekend. Something is just not right with this picture. According to Drawdy, he has stated that he has no connection with Marsh and the Visionweb Properties arm of Visionweb Technologies.

Has Drawdy actually severed his ties with the group that bankrupted the Hot Biscuit Restaurant? Many members of the Chamber of Commerce are calling for Drawdy's removal as president. Drawdy has threatened that he will pack up his Visionweb Chamber website and ride out of town if he is removed. Unless, that is, the Chamber pays a reported $30, 000 to buy it from him. Chamber director Jean Sullivan has made excuse after excuse for Drawdy remaining as president. Other Chamber officials have commented that it is just too much trouble to have him removed. Another case of selective enforcement in Tombstone?

Next case please: our City Clerk position that has gone unfilled for over a year. Now that Dusty has been reelected, will his first move be to hire a permanent qualified city clerk? I say it is nessisary to complete a management team that holds each other accountable in city government.

Herb Linn remaining as council member to complete his term is another example of "It's just too much work." What about rules are rules? Some local RVparks went less than full over the weekend while the city looked the other way, refusing to ticket illegally parked trailers, RVs and even tents. Sure bet Tombstone Territories RV park would have liked to fill the 45 empty spaces they had available.

This is on open call for citizens to unite and assemble organized citizen groups to patrol our Southern border and to do it actually on the border not 25 to 50 miles from the border, as is now the practice. Our goal should be to staff the border each and every day, until the issue of the invasion is resolved.

The bottom-line? The Government is not doing their job to effectively protect our borders. I call for American citizens to do the job for them. We have given them a year to respond to the demands of the American citizens, to tighten up the security and National defense of our borders. This is not a result of the just the past year worth of hand-wringing and telling us they cannot do anything about it. The Government is obviously not capable of or not willing to protect our soil. Basically, they have admitted cowardace and unwillingness to do what the American people feel is necessary; we all know they have been ignoring the border problem for decades. Enough is enough. It is time to act. This has been in the planning for some time; now is the time for action. I am looking for citizens to organize, pool supplies and equipment, train responsibly and move out in groups to protect a stretch of our border. We begin with ranches; groups of trained citizen militia will stake out a one half mile to one mile stretch of border on a nightly basis. We are asking for citizens to basically give up one 24-hour overnight period, say one night a week or even one-day a month would help us get started. Unless we

Dear Editor:

An open letter to everyone who voted for the "Clean Elections" law and are now complaining about Mr. Mahoney's recent campaign tactics. What are you going to do when someone really objectionable receives public money to run a political campaign using the system you supported? Will you continue to support the "Clean Elections" system then?

Tombstone was still in its original state when our family made the town a stop on its peripatetic journey through life, and what a place to be as an 11 year old kid. Every bit as magical as my imagination had made it when my older brother, Wally, and I were told this would be our new home

A killer is on the loose in the Washington area, and once again, gun haters are using the Beltway shootings as an excuse for more gun control.

Ballistic fingerprinting will hardly ever solve a crime, but it will accomplish something else -- a gun registry tied to the owners of the guns.

The latest weapon in the gun haters' arsenal is the registration of firearms. Specifically, they want to register the unique "ballistic fin-

Dear Editor,

This was posted by Grim on Assault Web. Sounds like a VERY GOOD idea. I don't own just guns, rifles, assault weapons any more. They're all "HOMELAND DEFENSE RIFLES".

I don't know where it got started, or who coined it.... but the term "Homeland Defense Rifle" became a good laugh for us all. But after thinking about, I feel it isn't a joke. I feel we should go out of our way to make that a keyword amongst the Law Abiding gun

TOMBSTONE ART GALLERY

The Tombstone Association of the Arts is proud to present a show featuring the work of three local artists for the month of October.

Jim Kidd from Tombstone, Arizona, has won many awards for his fine art photography. His subjects are landscapes, still life, and portraits.

Madelene Smith from Sierra Vista, Arizona, has a background in Commercial Art. She worked for many years in illustration, graphic arts, and art direction. The challenges of working in watercolor, mixed media, and collage encourages her to explore new ideas in the use of color and design.

Harlan White grew up in East Liverpool, Ohio. He now lives in Hereford, Arizona. He painted in oils until 1980, then turned to watercolor. He liked it because of its representation of light and its transparency.

The Gallery is located at 317 Allen Street, Tombstone, Arizona. Hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is free.

How do you feel about someone owning the rights to a historical event, such as the gunfight between the Earps, Clantons and McLowreys?

"Helldorado Days and Wyatt Earp Days is so full because of many of the reenactors that come here from all over. If they want to cancel the reenactments of the gunfight, then they can have an empty town.
I don't see how one instance in a town's life can be copyrighted to exclude everything that has ever happened in that town. There are other events that happened are you going to copyright those too?"
Gary Atkinson, Marian Atkinson, Luke Short and Lauren Atkinson - Los Angeles, CA

DOG SENSE
A POLITICAL COLUMN

Howdy folks! What's happinin' to civility these here days? Few people seem to want ta be polite to their fellow man anymore. How many doors have been held open for you lately? How many strangers say " g o o d mornin" to ya anymore? It still happens, but not as much as it should.

Good manners comin' from someone seems to make everyone around feel better. On the other hand, rudeness seems to make everyone around unhappy. Yet everywhere you look now a days, rudeness is the in thing! TV shows seem to promote it. The cool guys are the ones who are the most rude. Even our commercials use rudeness to sell products. They call it bein' "fresh", but it just amounts to bein' rude.

One of the biggest reasons for folks not bein' polite anymore is that children are taught to be self centered by their parents these days. Parents are so protective of their children anymore that they think they can do no wrong. They teach the young pups that no matter what they do; they are still all right. Take for instance, when my dad got a whippin' at school when he was a young pup. When he got home he got another un'. If he got a whippin' at school he musta' done somethin' bad and when his parents found out what that somthin' was they figured they wanted to make him not want a do it agin'. Now a days if'n a pup gets whipped at school, no matter what he did, the parents go to the school and defend him and probably slap a big law suit on the school. What's this teachin' the kid? No matter what you do its all right, and no matter who it hurts as long as it don't hurt you. This teaches them that no one matters but themselves.

Another form of rudeness that has blossomed in the last few years is rudeness on the highway. This is where politeness could keep ya from a gittin' hurt. My dad used ta git mad at these here crazy drivers that acted like they had someone in the car dyin' and were a tryin' ta git em to the hospital. I told my dad, what difference does it make how they act if you act the same way back to em'. If they come a zippin' around ya, just let em go. The further they get from ya the safer ya are. When one of them there idiots passes a whole line of cars behind you and then wants to cut right in front of you so he can turn off, back off and let him! What difference would it make ta ya? One or two seconds of time. Big deal. Many o' accident would be avoided if we wouldn't let the real idiot drivers out there turn us into the same thing. Just because someone else is not polite, that ain't no sign you can't be, even ta them!.

I think the majority of the folks out there still would like to see civility and politeness reign in our society again. Let's not let Hollywood, TV, and rude folks change how the rest of us act. Start teaching your kids by example. Hold the door open for someone. Give cheerful "good mornin's". When that driver who just went passed you wants to cut right back in front of you, back off and let him, cheerfully! Life's too short ta go around in a foul mood all the time and bein' polite and gracious to your fellow man puts both him and you in a good mood….

the set, which was being renovated." The Helldorado sign, along with other references and souvenirs in businesses and advertisements around town are in jeopardy of being removed. Potentially all merchandise with reference to the (registered trademark) would have to be removed from shops and advertisements.

Tombstone's annual celebration, which was originally staged in an effort to reestablish its identity after losing a bid to remain the official seat of Cochise County, has been portraying the famous gunfight since 1929. Every year groups travel from around the country to reenact various western gunfight events, even comedy western skits. However most groups cherish the opportunity to perform the famous gunfight reenactment in the very town where it occurred. Most do not seem to care where they perform; knowing that the current (registered trademark) arena theater is not the actual location of the event, they are just as satisfied to perform it on the streets or on the Helldorado set.

Now, Helldorado and the entire charity spirit of the reenactment groups could be snuffed out with one litigious volley fired from the desk of the current owner, Bob Love, who lives on the East Coast. Reeder feels this is a big concern for the businesses and tourist attractions here in town; so much so that he addressed the Tombstone Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, alerting them to the situation and asking for support from the community. The two groups have obtained legal assistance to fight the ban on reenactments outside of the (registered trademark) arena. The following is an official statement by Steve Reeder given to the Chamber of Commerce at Tuesday night's meeting.

"What our councel advised us- what Helldorado Incorporated and the Tombstone Vigilantes should do in this situation- will affect the whole town. We will set the standards in the case; if you do not respond to it, everyone here will eventually receive a letter, and be affected by this registered trademark application. Therefore, we are asking for your help in raising money for the defense fund. We have an attorney who specializes in intellectual property and he has taken the case at a fraction of what it would normally cost. Regardless of this, we need help raising the cost to protect our future."

What will come of this is yet to be resolved. The facts seem to insinuate that no one, but no one, can use the name of the (registered trademark). The Tumbleweed took to the streets over Helldorado Weekend to ask visiting fans of the Wild West what they thought of the situation. Basically, we asked two questions. Do you think someone can own a historical event, trademark it, and not allow anyone else to reenact it? Question two dealt with a situation: Say you came all the way here to see the gunfight. The (registered

HUMAN RIGHTS GROUPS SEEK FEDERAL INVESTIGATION OF SHOOTING AND DRUG SEIZURE

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Human rights advocates are calling for a federal investigation into the fatal shooting of two immigrants and a vigilante group's seizure of drugs near the U.S.-Mexican border. The advocates, including members of a group called Coalicion de Derechos Humanos, said the two separate incidents resulted from misguided federal immigration policies.

"The murder of two migrants is not an isolated incident," said the Rev. John Fife, a Tucson pastor. "It is the culmination of a history of dehumanization and racism and militarism on this border that has gone on for a long time. Too long."

Two men were killed Oct. 16 when two suspected immigrant smugglers drove up and opened fire on a group of illegal border crossers near Red Rock, about 35 miles northwest of Tucson. Investigators believe the survivors - except one who escaped - were forced to get into the smugglers' vehicle and leave with them.

Also, on Oct. 15 and Oct. 16, members of an armed citizens patrol called Ranch Rescue seized about 280 pounds of marijuana from smugglers crossing a private ranch.

A U.S. Border Patrol spokesman declined to comment, and calls to the Mexican Consulate and the Pinal County Sheriff's Department, which investigated the homicides, were not returned.

Former Pima County Supervisor Raul Grijalva, now running for Congress, also took part in the protest, asking federal authorities to investigate.

"This is very scary," said Jose Matus, director of Derechos Humanos. "We're fearful of people thinking they can pick up guns and shoot at anyone who looks Mexican."

DISTRICT 25 CANDIDATES FACE TOUGH QUESTIONS

PART 2 OF 4

Despite a Homecoming football game, District 25 debates at Schieffelin Hall drew a crowd of about 40 local residents who listened to candidates for the State Senate and House of Representative face off to answer tough questions posed by the Tumbleweed. The format for the general election debates challenged candidates to face-off in pairs to answer twelve questions presented by Tumbleweed moderator Bill Bennett. Dave Stoddard and Marsha Arzberger, candidates for one Senate slot, squared off to answer each of the twelve questions posed to the candidates. The four remaining candidates for the House, Jennifer Burns, Bobby Lugo, Dave Stevens and Manny Alvarez were paired off randomly to answer six of the twelve questions. The Tumbleweed has transcribed the candidates' responses to the twelve questions and presents them here for those who could not attend. Due to the length of the text, we will present the transcripts in three installments included in this issue and continued in the next two issues of the Tumbleweed.

Item 2: There has been a lot of "positioning" in the past on public land use - grazing vs. recreational vs. environment. What is your position and how do you plan to move in that direction?

Item 3: Tombstone is in the process of building a new high school. What will you do to encourage teachers to come to rural areas?

Item 2

Mr. Stoddard

Public land is exactly that, public land. It is there for the use of the public. Grazing is a valid use of public land. It does not cause the great amount of environmental damage when there is a conscientious grazing program applied. In fact, grazing on public land proofs to be beneficial in keeping down the undergrowth, reducing the danger of fire and what was the second part of the question? As a legislator I'd just be one vote out of ninety on any bills that come up to curtail grazing. Of course, if a bill comes up to further the grazing rights or install grazing permits on land on which grazing is permissible then of course, I will vote favorable on that.

Senator Arzberger

Your asked about public lands. There are two kinds of public land in Arizona, one would be Federal land and one would be State land. Federal land is often forestland and many of the grazing disagreements we have had, have to do with Federal land. I have seen personal proof for me that grazing is extremely beneficial for forestland. I have a feeling that they are going to be coming back to that after all these fires. Let me go on to State land. State land to begin with is in trust to provide income for our school system and therefore it is often leased for a number of different reasons. One being grazing, farming, there are also other commercial uses that State land is leased for. And the purpose, in our Constitution it says that State land returns as great amount of money as possible to the school system. Now I think your question is leading toward the future of public land and although you did not say so, I suspect that you intended to ask about open space. I imagine Ed that was part of your question. I think it is important to maintain open space in the State of Arizona. And by saying that I mean, let's not allow the principles that State land must recover the largest amount possible mean that, all our State land are going to be sold for development and in this state that means wall to wall houses. There is a great deal of work we need to do in this area. At the present time I think our State lands are managed very well, I have a few questions about our public lands and I also would ask that there are a few unique and special places in Arizona such as mountain tops that should be preserved.

Representative Lugo

Yeah, the land that we have here in Arizona, all of it is beautiful and we are a big State. And I think that we have to use it the way that would be better for our posterity. And I think if we are talking about Federal land or State land. Our Federal land we can use grazing on it to protect the ecology on it. And the State land we can lease it and therefore the school will get benefit out of that. But I think that number one and my priority would be to conserve the land that we have and try to save it, because it is a very beautiful State of Arizona and our land is what makes our beautiful State.

Mr. Stevens

Currently right now less than twenty percent of the land in this State is privately

KEEP YOUR POWDER DRY

The Washington Sniper

By: John C Betka

I have debated the article for this Issue of the Tumbleweed, however, I felt amiss if I did not address the issue of the so-called Sniper of Washington Area. Some people are staying home from work. Some parents are pulling their kids out of school. Others are avoiding shopping and pumping gas.

All this concern because one sniper has begun picking people off at long range in Maryland, Washington and Virginia. First of all, I challenge the word sniper in this application, just about anyone can hit a target at 100 yards, that does not justify this person being a "sniper". To take a sniper "out" requires the use of another "sniper" why are we not doing just that.

Police officials say the manhunt has become the No. 1 priority of the local, state and federal governments. And despite all the resources of government, State, Local and Federal agencies there is seemingly little progress being made in the investigation. Press conferences are held virtually on the hour. Officials are talking about an unprecedented level of cooperation between government agencies. I hope the murderer of nine is caught soon. But I'm not optimistic. Bureaucracies are just that Bureaucracies and are inefficient. The bigger they are, the more inefficient they get.

Just imagine if there were 10 shooters, or 100, or more such individuals or organized terrorists at work.

The problem is quite simple, just as the U S Supreme Court ruled in 1995, " it is NOT the duty, obligation, responsibility of any police agencies, Federal, State, Local, County etc to protect you your family or your property, that is the individual's RIGHT and Obligation." I point out the weakness in American law enforcement not to alarm people, but to demonstrate that ordinary citizens cannot and should not count on the government to protect them, their lives, their property and their family members. The government can't do it. It's not possible.

The fact is the government has systematically been disarming the law-abiding citizen in lieu of the Rights of Criminals. We Americans have the God Given Right to Keep and Bear Arms, an armed Citizen is a Free person, a disarmed citizen is a slave and as such subject to the whims and terror of the criminals like this so called sniper, like the terrorist of 911. If Americans were armed on the Aircraft of 911 I will wager the acts of 911 would not have unfolded like they did. We Americans have misplaced our trust in the police agencies to protect us. They cannot nor have they ever been able to protect us. We live in an illusion of security, the only security is when the American Citizens acts individually and collectively to protect themselves. The police can only take reports and investigate after the fact. Even then they usually do a crappy job of that also.

The principle is the same. Americans can only defend themselves and protect their families and communities effectively if they are armed and vigilant. Instead, the government fears the citizenry and continues to disarm the very people who could put a quick end to this slaughter.

What we are seeing is a total collapse of the weakness of gun control. Gun control offers nothing to deter criminals from using guns. It only deters law-abiding people from using them. Gun control isn't going to stop a terrorist from shooting people. It only deters good guys from shooting back.

Do not put your faith in government. If you do, you will be seriously disappointed - not to mention the, loss of your freedom. Instead, put your faith in God and the proven principles of self-defense and personal responsibility that are prescribed by virtually every faith - and certainly by both Judaism and Christianity.

I strongly feel that the more we law abiding citizens are disarmed the more acts of crime and terrorism we will see because the only people that can stop these acts are you and I as we see them occur. If we do not have the tools to stop the criminals we become victims.

Recognize that all of the policemen in the world can't stop it. They can investigate. They can respond to it. They may even eventually apprehend the perpetrators. Only you and I as armed citizens can STOP IT!

It has been a very busy week, with preparations for the annual Helldorado Celebration which took place this last weekend.

The preparations paid off big time, as folks from around the state and around the country gathered in Tombstone to experience this unique and historic event!

Ann Marie Kelly was seen on the boardwalk, smiling proudly as cameras clicked photographs of her sister, Sandi Comzind, who was visiting the Kellys this weekend from Barstow, California, and who participated in the Helldorado Parade.

Sandi Comzind, visiting from Barstow, California, posed for numerous photographs during Helldorado 2002. Lady Liberty is the sister of Tombstone resident Ann Marie Kelly.

Sandi was the beautiful Lady Liberty wearing the stunning red, white and blue gown. You may have seen this pretty lass gliding down Allen Street, graciously waving her fan to spectators who lined the street…

Linda Young poses with Miss Lilly on Allen Street. Miss Lilly raised $257 for Tombstone Small Animal Shelter this last week-end.

Dr. Jay Clark and Linda Young returned to Tombstone with their canine daughter, the adorable Miss Lilly, who was dressed in period clothing equal to her parents' impeccable style.

As you may know, Miss Lilly is a familiar sight on the streets of Tombstone, loved by all for her generosity and distinct talent for fundraising for the Tombstone Small Animal Shelter.

Mom Linda reported that Lilly raised $257 during Helldorado, and a whopping total of $840 during events this summer!

Dr. Jay and Linda travel with Miss Lilly all the way from Albuquerque, New Mexico to attend events in Tombstone and to raise funds for the Animal Shelter. And that's DOG-GONE nice, don't you think?

A very Happy Birthday to Swamper John, well-know and highly visible resident of Tombstone.

John was dressed as an authentic Yuma Prison inmate, with vivid black and white striped suit accessorized with a very-real-looking ball and chain! John's birthday was October 19th. And many more, Swampie . . .!

AND… An equally Happy Birthday to the ever-popular and ever-smiling Miss Betty Davis.

Betty, whose birthday was October 18th, was out on the town Saturday night having a great time flirting with husband Jerry and talking with friends, and, of course, SMILING. Betty was one of the lovely ladies who helped to put people in jail for Helldorado Days. Book 'em, Betty…!

Swamper John, well-known Tombstone local, celebrated his birthday this last week.

Don't forget, it's RED RIBBON WEEK by Official Proclamation at Walter J. Meyer School, starting October 23rd and continuing through next Wednesday, October 30th. Here's a calendar of events to keep you on track:

A "Knock-Em-Dead" blond was seen posing in the doorway of Big Nose Kate's Saloon this last week-end, dressed fit-to-kill in a smokin' pink and black lace outfit. This gorgeous gal was none other than Tombstone's Mary Duewell, who's known and admired around town for her variety of costumes…

HOW TO BUY A HORSE

HOW TO BUY A HORSE:

The decision to purchase a horse is an important one. Factors such as the breed, age, sex, and training level must be determined. A family with young, inexperienced children would not be looking for the same qualities as a professional horse trainer. I have put together the following tips over twenty-five years of breeding, training, buying and selling horses. Keep in mind that although most "horse people" are honest, there are a few that will do nearly anything to sell their horse.

First, be honest about your level of expertise. Can you tell whether a horse is conformationally correct? Can you identify lower leg lameness? Do you know enough about your particular breed choice to be able to tell whether the horse in question matches the standard? If not, please find someone who does know and take them with you when you go to view the animal.

Make sure you first see the horse in the smallest enclosure possible. A stall is ideal. If a horse if weaving, cribbing, or turns and tries to kick when you open the stall door, it is probably not a good prospect. Ask the handler to lead the horse out and stand it as squarely as possible. Move around the animal and look for conformation problems.

Also observe the horse's disposition as it is being handled. Since horses are occasionally drugged prior to sale, run your hand down the groove in the neck and watch for traces of blood or needle marks. Also check the hip area for signs of an injection. Ask if the horse kicks. If it does not, pick up each foot and examine not only the hoof, but the area above it. You are searching for small scars that may indicate that the horse has had a surgical procedure commonly referred to as "nerving". It is frequently done when horses have been diagnosed with navicular disease. Cutting the nerve will insure the horse is not able to feel anything in his foot or lower leg. Unfortunately, a "nerved" horse can walk over broken glass and severely cut himself without knowing he is injured.

Now is a perfect time to ask to see the horse's papers if you're looking at a purebred animal. It is extremely important to be sure that the horse being sold matches the horse described on the certificate of registration. Is it the correct color? Are the white markings identical to those listed? It is equally important to be sure the person selling the horse is the same person printed on the certificate as the owner. Keep in mind that if a registration certificate lists two names, such as Bob AND Brenda Smith, you must have both signatures in order for the sale to be legitimate. If the certificate reads Bob OR Brenda, either may sign.

Ask why this horse is being sold. Ask if the horse has any history of injury, colic, founder, or any other equine-related medical problem. Find out the name of the seller's veterinarian and ask if you may call him or her. As you are asking these questions, continue walking around the horse and observing. Does the horse seem overly calm? Run your hand inside the inside of the mouth. Be careful not to get bitten! The seller will think you are checking age by looking at the teeth. What you are really doing is seeing if the mouth is extremely dry. Tranquilizers generally cause dryness of the mouth, drooping of the eye lids and lower lip, and sometimes an unsteady gait.

Ask the handler to take the horse to an open area. Walk behind the horse and watch the hoof prints in the dirt. If the horse tracks normally, the hooves will leave straight indentations. If you see a hoof print off to one side, the horse may wing or paddle. Watch the horse move. Does it appear sound? If you want to ride the horse, ask that the seller ride first. To you, the term "green broke" may mean the horse simply isn't finished, but certainly can walk, trot and canter evenly, and knows his leads. To the seller, it may mean the horse probably won't buck you off!

Watch as the horse is tacked up to be ridden. Bitting is very important. If a very severe bit is required, the horse is probably not as well-trained as one who goes in a simple snaffle. Watch as the girth is tightened. Does the horse move and sidestep? If so, he may be "cinchy", and that can be a difficult problem to correct.

If the seller has ridden and you've watched, then you've ridden, and you're satisfied that this horse is probably the one you're looking for, you should still ask a few more questions. Make sure you've been told the accurate age, especially if the horse is not a purebred. I once had a young lady boarding a horse in my barn who told me her gelding was six. He certainly looked older, and when I checked his teeth, identified a horse closer to thirty! Ask if the horse has been shown? By whom? When was he last vaccinated? Dewormed? How is he to clip? Bathe? Tie? If the horse is a stallion or mare, make sure you know the get or produce record. If a stallion, make sure both testicles are descended. Find out whether the horse has been artificially collected. If a mare, find out whether she has been live covered. When was her last foal? Did the foaling occur without problems?

One of the best tips I can give you is to have your veterinarian do a pre-purchase examination. The cost varies from $50.00 to over $200.00, however, if your horse has a heart murmur, or other problem, it is well worth the money to find out. If you are buying a hunter/jumper, you most certainly want the legs radiographed. Definitely have a vet examine any animal to be used for breeding.

Finally, get a bill of sale, as well as the certificate of registration signed. If brand inspection, or livestock hauling cards are required, be sure the card is on file and that you obtain the transfer. Looks like you've just bought your for a while.

We arrived in the mid-1940s and how my parents managed to keep up their traveling all through the years of World War II I never knew, but I know we traveled by car, train and bus.

Ft. Huachuca was about 30 miles south of town and had finally gotten permanent quarters built for the soldiers stationed there, so the Army was selling off the tiny-18' to 24 foot trailers the soldiers had been billeted in at the beginning of the war. Dad bought 16 or 18 of them and set up a trailer park on Toughnut Street, renting them to the people that wintered in the arid high desert that seemed, with the perpetual sunshine, to heal their arthritis and asthma. The climate was wonderful and it did help the ill, but only in Tombstone were they able to live symptom free.

As in all small communities, the residents were happy to see an enterprising young couple join them, full of new ideas from across the country. Daddy was appointed the Marshall of Tombstone; I don't know whether it had any official duties or if it was simply a courtesy title to help spur tourism. I do think it helped draw tourists, as he looked the part when he rode astride a horse on the dusty streets of town.

He was also part of the group of townspeople that decided to spruce the town. Progress was coming to town! They ripped out the original plank sidewalks and tore down the shading overhang, then they poured concrete sidewalks sans the welcoming shade. The image of the old west had been destroyed, the tourists stopped coming. Learning their lesson rapidly as they watched the economy plummet, the new sidewalks were dug up, the planks and overhangs replaced, Tombstone was back and the tourists soon were.

There were two saloons in town, the Oriental and the Crystal Palace. I liked the Crystal Palace the best with its long, polished mahogany bar backed with beveled mirrors, player piano tinkling, and if you squinted and the light was just right, you could almost see the card-players, some with their hats pulled sharply down over their face hiding their eyes from the other players, the smoke from a roll-your-own curling upward. The only thing missing were the dance hall girls. They may have been there but if they weren't in costume an 11 year old in those days didn't recognize them, and too, I thought "dance hall girls" did just that-dance.

Naivety, don't you wish it were still around?

gerprint" that each firearm leaves on a bullet or cartridge case after it is fired, and trace it back to the original buyer of the gun.Ballistic fingerprinting will not work for a number of reasons. Probably foremost is that crooks do not use valid identification to buy guns in stores. That means the evidence chain will rarely connect back to the crook.

Second, the signature changes with successive firings of the gun. The changes are most pronounced when the gun is new. Moreover, it is not difficult to intentionally disfigure the lands and grooves in the barrel to change the signature.

Third, barrels and firing pins can be replaced, creating a new signature that does not exist in anybody's database. Gun owners oppose registration because governments have a habit of changing the rules at some future date and using the database of gun owners to demand surrender of the newly banned guns. This is what happened in New York City. For 25 years, all rifles and shotguns were registered. The city's politicians insisted that crime fighting, not confiscation, was the goal. Then the law was changed, and many of the previously legal guns were on the prohibited list. Those that were not surrendered were confiscated during raids on owners' homes using registration lists.

Opposition to registration is hardly the paranoia that gun control supporters want people to believe. Often these same gun control advocates are (rightly) suspicious of the government when Fourth Amendment rights, rather than Second Amendment rights, are involved. Many supporters of gun control (rightly) opposed the Patriot Act and Attorney General John Ashcroft's inability to limit his actions within constitutional boundaries. They do not call themselves paranoid when opposing the Patriot Act, which authorizes massive invasions of personal privacy. However, they call gun owners paranoid for opposing registration. Some proponents of keeping a registry of bullet signatures insist that this is not gun control, just a crime tool. If you study the debates over every piece of gun control legislation in the past, you will find the same argument being made.

Gun control has always been advanced as just crime control. But gun control costs lives, it does not save them.

owner/shooter community (and all splinters of it). Why? Well, because that's what they have ALWAYS been, but now a gracious and well-defined name has come to light. If you use the term to the point enough, it will stick.

We all know that "Assault Rifles" by modern times definition is false. Assault rifle meant select fire...etc..... BUT a few "Democraps" and "Left-wingers" got a hold of it and plastered it all over till' it became a newly defined word/term. We embraced it mostly for the humor & shock value. "Yeah, I own guns, I have some old lever actions, a revolver.... OH, and a few 'assault rifles' (then a good laugh as you mock the term)

But, its not OUR term, it was handed to us by the enemy to scare the sheeple. So why should we continue using it? I didn't buy my AK style rifles for hunting, I sure as hell didn't buy them for marksmanship related shooting events, I bought them as a tool of defense and deterrence to those that want to threaten me in any form, whether a criminal attacking my home or a power attacking my rights.

So I feel we should take this new term that WE chose, that describes OUR 'tools' for what they really are and have ALWAYS been. These, my friends, are the freeman's modern day musket. My dream as of now, is to see that this new DESCRIPTIVE DEFINITION, LABEL, TERM, WHATEVER be used SO COMMONLY that the lefties actually bring it up on CNN, FOXNEWS etc.... Let them scoff, let them 'spin' this, try to mock it, hell, LET THEM MOCK IT, BUT...DON'T back down, don't flinch, continue using it till' it is forced into the sheeples mind. If the powers that be wanna use fear of terrorism to justify their actions, then I for damn sure will use it to CLARIFY my reason for owning these weapons. They expect us to shit in our pants...they show videos of terrorists training with 'Military weapons', Well guess what, you can't put a cat in a dogfight. Lets use their "fear factor" against them, lets not only coin this new label, lets MINT it!!

From now on, every time you make a post, or are in a conversation with a sheeple or even a fellow Patriot, and the need comes to use the term 'Assault Rifle'----catch yourself and use the RIGHT term "Homeland Defense Rifle"...Put pressure on Major dealers to start using the phrase in their advertising, "ON SALE This Week: Homeland Defense Rifles..." Lets turn this tide in OUR favor for once. Think about it...please, this is a bigger deal then you think. I know it sounds a bit silly at first, or even a bit pointless, but look at the BIG picture. The existing term was used to disarm us, as well as "Non-Sporting features/rifle" Let them try to deny us our "Homeland Defense Rifles" How does that sound. If it is used enough, it will be a forced vocabulary, the media will mock it at first or ignore it, but if we PERSIST without hesitation, then the term will be set in stone, as well as the hearts & minds of many. Please help me make this a reality.

Letter to the Editor:
RE: TRUTH

Recent issues of your newspaper have carried several opinions as to what truth is. I now present my view on this subject.

In a manner of speaking, truth is an arrangement of facts. However, the flaw in this philosophy in the determination of truth is that more often than not it is a matter of individual perception. I add to this that truth is the foundation of all knowledge and the cement of all lasting societies. The ultimate truth originated with the Supreme Power of the universe. It changes not because of individual perception.

Dear Editor:

I would just like to say that I have always enjoyed reading the Tombstone papers. It is a wonderful little town to visit and go back in time.

I have found the people there to be very friendly and helpful. As in any populated area you will always find the negative, spiteful,nasty and illiterate. It is a shame that they think so very much of themselves that they do not even bother to get the facts straight while they try to slam others. The slam would be much more successful if the basic facts were correct. People see the misinformation and discredit anything credible that he/she may have said.

It is interesting that those who have been trying to slander others, don't even have the courage to identify themselves. It is my opinion, which I am entitled to, that they are some of the greatest cowards in the world.

I hope that others will continue to enjoy the town, it's people and newspapers as I do.

Don't forget this is going to be a good week-end for tourists. You will be having Heldorado days and the showing of the movie "The Great Train Robbery at Schefflin Hall.

Everyone have a great week-end!!!

BISBEE COUNCIL APPROVES CONTRACT FOR CITY MANAGER

BISBEE (October 9) – Last night, the Bisbee City Council approved a new three-year contract with Rob Yandow, the City Manager. "The new contract will assure greater continuity and stability at our chief administrative post," Mayor Dan Beauchamp said, "making it more likely that a good manager will be on the job for the critical years ahead."

The contract increases the severance pay in the event the city manager is removed, from the Charter's minimum of three months severance pay, to six months. The contract also increases the notice that the city manager gives to the City, should he desire to leave, from 30 days to 60 days, increasing the notice requirement from the manager's original hiring agreement. Both provisions are in the contract to provide incentives for continuity in stable, strong leadership at a time when the city is undergoing the $276 million overhaul of its wastewater system.

The contract also permits the City Manager the use of his late-model City vehicle for personal use. The impact of this benefit will likely only cost the city an extra tank of gas a month, if that, Bisbee Mayor Beauchamp said. The agreement does not affect Mr. Yandow's salary, which currently is $82,000. Also, the contract does not alter the fact that Mr. Yandow serves at will from the City Council.

The Contract with Mr. Yandow includes annual performance objectives for the upcoming year, objectives like updating and expanding the master economic plan, developing a management accountability program to assure completion of city tasks, and so forth.

Bisbee is a small city with infrastructure deficits that normally plague much larger cities, deficits that were the legacy of the closing of active mining operations. "We need to encourage strong leadership in our City Manager at this critical juncture of our history and that means bringing our Agreement with the City Manager closer to what other cities offer to attract and keep and keep strong, professional leadership."

Mr. Yandow came to Bisbee in March 2001, from Barre, Vt., where he served as City Manager.

The contract with the City Manager was moved from the October 1 regular council meeting until Tuesday, October 8, to allow time to work out last minute details of the agreement.

it's various businesses. I have never asked for nor accepted a penny for promoting the businesses of Tombstone although I could have easily accepted advertisement dollars offered to me.

I receive many emails from around the country and other countries asking about various places in Tombstone to stay, dining and in some cases where to get married. I have referred several couples to a local wedding chapel.

Speaking about heart? I made a website for your son's book a few years ago, at my own expense and effort and actively tried to help shop his book to various publishers and university presses around the country. I did this to help your son and expected nothing in return. I had also maintained this website for your son's book at my own expense and time. He has never thanked me for this.

I was quite surprised to find out, after several months of non-communication from your son Tim, that he had made a contract with Talei publishers and did not have the decency to even inform me to what he was doing. I was still trying to help him shop his book although he had stopped communicating with me.

In July, My cousin Sandy and I went to Willcox and expected to visit with your son Tim. Notably, he acted like we were not even there when we approached him. Apparently, he did not want to acknowledge our presence, especially while standing next to the Tombstone Town Historian.

Ms. Fattig, where was my heart in this? Where was your son's heart? Is this the way you treat a friend that did everything in his power to help him get his book published?

Additionally, your son has avoided most communication with some writers and researchers. I have had many people ask me what is going on with Tim? Why is the family screening and not responding to phone calls and mail?

Some of these writers helped your son with his research with leads and info, and he does not have the decency to even answer their calls and mail?

I do not understand how someone could just turn their back on people who did everything they could to help your son. I also do not understand the spite behind your letter to the editor? Is the approval of the town fathers and Talei Publishing really worth this?

Sincerely,

owned. And more of that land is being taken out of private ownership. There should be a concerted effort to put some of that back because that tax revenue that that private ownership brings in is very essential to this State. Grazing rights also brings in revenue. We have seen the mismanagement we have had in the fires from last summer. So, we need to put a greater effort into managing the lands and they probably have too much for what they can manage and that is more than obvious. So I would not be opposed to allowing some of that land to go back to a private sector as long as we control it, manage it as it goes back. It is in better hands with a private investor and we get more tax revenue for the State and we can maintain the beauty that we have in this state.

Senator Arzberger

Not only the rural area is where we need encourage the good teachers to remain in the state of Arizona. We are losing our finest teachers, because other areas in the country are paying a great deal more. We simply are going to have to continue to look for other ways to raise teachers' salaries. Now, I think a lot of teachers want to come to rural areas and they are looking for a pleasant working experience that includes adequate buildings, hopefully that they don't have to pay for their own supplies, small classrooms, so for education in general and to keep good teachers small classrooms and better teacher pay that gives us quality schools.

Mr. Stoddard

The State for Arizona has some of the best teachers in the nation. Arizona requires a continuing education for these teachers up to a master's degree, I believe. Now, in the federal sector and in the private sector, any employer that requires this continuing education must pay for it. However, the State of Arizona is not required to bear the cost of this required continuing education. Therefore, I think if the State of Arizona would give these teachers free tuition in their institutions of higher learning in which they are required to participate, that would help. Another thing that would help would be to standardize teacher pay across the State so that the teacher in Douglas or Tombstone would get the same pay as one in Paradise Valley or Scottsdale. One of the ways we can do that is take another step and standardize the pay by a consistent pay scale. Now already these teachers retire under the Arizona State retirement system so I don't see why the State can't accept the pay scale. Now regarding the facilities, already we have the School Facilities Board in which the schools in rural areas like Tombstone are constructed with State funds. I understand that this has been a big drain on the State but I think that that should continue. And I think we should restore discipline to the classrooms, allow these teachers to maintain discipline themselves without the convoluted process when they get unruly students and appeals and so forth. Education in Arizona, actually anywhere, is a very important part of our future and I will do everything that I can to support that.

Mr. Alvarez

Thank you. As you know, the school system has always been one of the lowest paid employees in the county. What we need to do to encourage the teachers to relocate here is that we need to go in the process, of course the benefits is one thing. The teacher when he goes to school does not go to school for nothing. We've got to help him pay for that education that he receives, and another thing that we need to do is encourage him into helping this teacher when they come into the school to be supportive of them. Not just say, well, you know hey, you are on your own, take care of them, educate them, and throw them at the door. That is not the purpose. To get good schoolteachers, we need to support their income. That's the main thing, and I think that everybody knows the only way you are going to get it is through taxes. And I know everybody in here if there is a school bond to fix things, everybody would vote for it. So the education part locally is not that bad, we can support them, but we cannot pay those teachers up to the standards of Phoenix and Tucson. And I know that some of those teachers are willing to be relocated to come into these rural communities. We have a way of life here.

Representative Lugo

A couple nights ago, we attended a forum up in Ajo and exactly what you are saying now was being discussed there. Ajo is also in rural Arizona and it was at a school board session that the candidates that was running for school board were there and these questions were being asked: How are they going to entice people, teachers to come there? You know and that is a big problem. Next year I already have a bill in process that I will introduce that any student from Arizona, that will teach in rural Arizona, I was thinking the bill would say anywhere in Arizona, but I think I will specifically say in rural Arizona if a school teacher graduates from college and wants to teach in rural Arizona and they sign up through your contract the State will forgive 50 per cent of their student loan. If they will go two more years that's 25 per cent and if they go two more years then we'll forgive 100 per cent of their student loan. I know a lot of people I have said that before and they say Arizona is in a budget crunch, how are you going to pay for this? Well, I advocate that we look at some of these tax loopholes that we are experiencing right now. If we were to address them we could get up to 5 billion dollars on it, and if we could get that money out of Arizona it would pay for the bill that I am trying to stretch right now. Even so that we don't do that, how much is the price of a child? I think that we can go in there and cut other places and get the money to fund what I said, because I don't think that we can put a price on the education of our future.

Another variation on the same question was: Does it matter which version you see; and does the location of the gunfight matter to you, as long as you get to see the gunfight? Gary Atkinson, "I don't see how one instance in a town's life can be copyrighted to exclude everything that has ever happened in that town. ASSESSOR
ITEM 9 - TAXPAYER NOTICE OF CLAIM FOR TED BERNS, PARCEL NO. 105-97-547, TAX ROLL NO. 18816; AND FIDELITY NATIONAL TITLE AG TR NO. 30085, PARCEL NOS. 121-01-007 THROUGH 121-01-042 — Mr. Phillip Leiendecker, County Assessor, stated that the Notice of Claim for Parcel No. 105-97-547 was filed requesting a tax bill correction and recommended that the classification be changed from a Class 1 to a Class 3 for a reduced assessed valuation for Tax Year 2002 of $15, 106 pursuant to A.R.S. 42-12054B.
A motion was made by Supervisor Newman and seconded by Supervisor Thompson to uphold the Assessor's decision to convert Parcel No. 105-97-547 from a Class 1 to a Class 3 for Tax Year 2002 for a Full Cash Value of $97,420 and Limited Property Value of $97,420 for a total adjusted assessed value of $15,106. The motion unanimously carried. Mr. Leiendecker recommended that the values for the Anderson properties remain unchanged (Tax Year 2002, Full Cash Value of $1,816,001 and Limited Property Value of $1,494,262; Tax Year 2003, Full Cash Value of $1,815,643 and Limited Property Value of $1,632,749), and to deny agricultural status (Ag) as the Notice of Claim does not meet the statutory definition of an objectively verifiable error pursuant to A.R.S. 16251(E). In response to the Board members, Mr. Leiendecker explained that the Assessor's Office has been in contact with the Andersons and their realtor. An inspection of the properties does not contradict, pursuant A.R.S. 42-12152, the Assessor's decision to revoke AG status, as the "primary use" of these parcels is for development and sale, while the grazing use is an ancillary benefit while the lots are being marketed. Also utilized and uncontradicted was the 3-part test used by the Assessor's office in order to determine whether to remove land from AG status, which is based on: 1) the land survey creating individual subdivided lots has been recorded, 2) on site development has taken place, and 3) clearance to sell has been obtained from the Real Estate Department. Further discussion ensued with regard to the property owner's request/entitlement for AG status, to which Ms. Ann Littrell, Deputy County Attorney, explained that the action before the Board does not meet the statutory definition of an "objectively verifiable error" pursuant to A.R.S. 16251(E); therefore, the request for AG status can not be considered as that would require judgment/discretion as to whether the land is actually being used for grazing until each parcel is actually sold. A motion was made by Supervisor Thompson and seconded by Supervisor Newman to uphold the Assessor's decision to deny agricultural status for Parcel Nos. 121-01-007 through 121-01-042, as the claim does not meet the statutory definition of an objectively verifiable error pursuant to A.R.S. 42-16251. The motion carried by a vote of two to one. Result of the motion: Supervisor Call, yes; Supervisor Newman, yes; Supervisor Thompson, no.

SUPERVISORS, BOARD OF
ITEM 10 - CONSIDERATION AND POTENTIAL ADOPTION OF RESOLUTION NO. 02-89 APPROVING A CERTIFICATE PURCHASE CONTRACT FOR THE COUNTY'S SERIES 2002 CERTIFICATES OF PARTICIPATION AND AMENDING RESOLUTION NO. 02-77 ADOPTED SEPTEMBER 9, 2002 — Mr. Robert Pender, Finance Director, stated that on September 9, 2002, the Board adopted Resolution No. 02-77, authorizing the execution and delivery of a First Amendment to Lease Agreement, a First Supplement to Trust Agreement, a letter of representation and a limited continuing disclosure undertaking and the execution and delivery of not to exceed $9,990,000 of Certificates of Participation, Series 2002 dated no later than September 30, 2002. In response to Supervisor Newman, Mr. Pender, explained that either the County Manager or the County Finance Director will take all acts and do all things necessary in order to complete prepayment of all remaining unpaid Lease Payments under the 1996 Lease Agreement. All monies and investments in the Reserve Fund created pursuant to the 1996 Trust Agreement may be used to prepay the Series 1996 Certificate or may remain in the Reserve Fund to provide a portion of the Reserve Fund required for the issuance of the Series 2002 Certificates. A motion was made by Supervisor Thompson and seconded by Supervisor Newman to adopt Resolution No. 02-89. The motion unanimously carried.

ITEM 11 - APPROVAL FOR COCHISE COUNTY ATTORNEY'S OFFICE TO HIRE MARILYN JO VASQUEZ AS A VICTIM COMPENSATION ADVOCATE AT A PAY GRADE OF 40, ABOVE MIDPOINT FOR THIS POSITION --
Chairman Call indicated that the pay grade mentioned above should have been listed as pay grade 38 not 40. Human Resources Director Mike Holland explained that Ms. Vasquez is highly qualified for the position with a BS in Finance and Accounting and recommended the hiring of Ms. Vasquez as a part time (15-Hour Week) Victim Compensation Advocate at a Grade 38 ($9.31 per hour). Under the regulations, any hiring above the pay grade mid-point must be approved by the Board. Supervisor Thompson made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Newman, to authorize the County Attorney's Office to hire Marilyn Jo Vasquez as a Victim Compensation Advocate at pay grade of 38 above the midpoint for this position The motion unanimously carried.

FINANCE
ITEM 12 - APPROVAL OF A BUDGET TRANSFER FROM THE GENERAL FUND CONTINGENCY ACCOUNT TO PROVIDE A SUPPLEMENT FOR EMPLOYEES WITH DEPENDENT HEALTH COVERAGE -- As of July 1, 2002, the County faced a 15% increase in health insurance. Although this increase was absorbed by the County for its employees, individuals who purchased health insurance for spouse, children or family were required to pay the 15% increase. The rate increase amounted to $8.77 per pay period for children; $12.87 for spouse and $18.16 for family coverage. This proposed action will roll back the employee deduction to last year's level. The amount of $44,000 will be needed to provide funding for the remaining 21 pay periods. If this program is continued next year, it is estimated that the amount to be budgeted will be $53,300. Supervisor Newman made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Thompson, to approve the budget transfer from the General Fund Contingency Account in the amount of $44,000. The motion unanimously carried.

HUMAN RESOURCES
ITEM 13 - AMENDMENT TO THE COCHISE COUNTY COMPENSATION PLAN - TABLED ITEM -- Chairman Call indicated that this item would remain tabled for an additional week. This item will be inserted in the agenda for the Board Meeting of September 9, 2002.

PLANNING AND ZONING
ITEM 14 - RESOLUTION NO. 02 - 75, FORMALLY AMENDING THE COCHISE COUNTY ZONING REGULATIONS ARTICLE 2 (DEFINITION OF ACCESSORY LIVING QUARTERS) AND SECTION 1717 (PROCEDURES FOR ISSUING PERMITS FOR AN ACCESSORY LIVING QUARTERS), AS APPROVED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS ON AUGUST 27, 2002 -- Planning Director Jim Vlahovich explained that this resolution formally reflects the changes to the County Zoning Regulations (Definition of Accessory Living Quarters - Article 2) and Section 1717 (Procedures for issuing permits for an accessory living quarters) as approved by the Board on August 27, 2002. A number of other issues were discussed relative to annual notification procedures for applicants residing in quarters for the ill, elderly and disabled, definition on the period of time a guest can remain in a guesthouse and whether or not an enclosed garage should be counted as part of living square footage. The Planning staff will review these issues and present their findings to the Board members at the meeting of October 1, 2002. Supervisor Newman made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Thompson, to adopt Resolution No. 02-75. The motion unanimously carried.

SUPERVISORS, BOARD OF
ITEM 15 - BI-NATIONAL EMERGENCY PLAN -- Health Department Director Diane Carter indicated that although the Plan has executed elements of community coordination, there still remain issues that may require state or federal legislation to resolve from both countries. Ms. Carper mentioned that some of the challenges that remain are:
Ø Emergency response equipment is not covered by US insurance policies once the vehicles and equipment cross the international border either direction
Ø Good Samaritan laws do not protect emergency responders from a personal liability lawsuit in Mexico. Mexican responders in the US are covered by existing Good Samaritan Laws
Ø There is no accepted standard communication frequency available to coordinate incident response within the border area nor is their common licensing to operate on compatible frequencies
Ø Inspections must be done on emergency vehicles when crossing the Border into either country. A solution is needed to expedite inspections to cross either side of the Border.
Mr. Carper mentioned that a possible solution could be an umbrella coverage by the state and/or federal government for emergency personnel and equipment. Ms. Carper indicated that several agencies such as the Fry Fire and the Naco Fire Departments are willing to respond if they are guaranteed liability coverage. The Board expressed concern over the liability issues of an emergency response and stated that Cochise County is not in a position to be responsible for any form of liability during a Bi-National emergency response. Deputy Attorney John MacKinnon stated that these liability exposure issues should be thoroughly researched. Consequently, that item was tabled until the meting of September 9, 2002.

ITEM 16 - REQUEST FOR A SIX-MONTH EXTENSION TO THE EL PASO GLOBAL NETWORKS COMPANY 2002 ANNUAL LICENSE FOR PAYMENT OBLIGATION - TABLED ITEM -- Chairman Call indicated that this item was removed from the table. Deputy County Attorney John MacKinnon explained that the El Paso Global Networks is re-evaluating the feasibility of building a fiber optic line from Houston, TX to Los Angeles, CA. This is the reason behind the request for a six-month extension. Upon questioning from the Board, Mr. MacKinnon indicated that if this extension is not approved, the franchise will expire. If the project is determined viable, the El Paso Global Networks would have to reapply for a franchise and staff would have to meet the statutory requirements once again. Supervisor Newman made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Thompson, to grant a six-month extension to the El Paso Global Networks Company 2002 annual license for payment obligation. Result of the motion:
Chairman Call voted YES
Supervisor Thompson voted YES
Supervisor Newman voted NO. The motion carried by two votes.

PUBLIC HEARING
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
ITEM 17 - APPLICATION FOR A SERIES NO. 7 LIQUOR LICENSE SUBMITTED BY MS. GABRIELA MENDOZA FOR FROGGY'S LOCATED AT 703 W. IRVINE AVENUE, PIRTLEVILLE, AZ -- Clerk of the Board Nadine Parkhurst explained that this application has been advertised according to the statutes and no protests were received. Chairman Call indicated that this was a public hearing and invited any member of the audience to address the Board regarding the proposed liquor license application. No response. Supervisor Thompson made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Newman, to approve the Series No. 7 liquor license application for Froggy's. The motion unanimously carried.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION
ITEM 18 - APPROVAL OF THE DECISIONS MADE BY THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION HEARING OFFICER ON TUESDAY, AUGUST 20, 2002 -- Chairman Call indicated that this was a public hearing and invited any member of the audience to address the Board regarding the Hearing Office's decisions. Mr. Frank Moro, voiced his opposition to the Hearing Officer's decision for: Parcel No. 106-70-135 - Comparable sales used by the County Assessor are not similar to the subject property, as the building was the second to the oldest of all the comparable properties, in worst condition, and the highest value by nearly 100%. Requesting that the Assessor use comparable buildings, same side of Fry, or comparable buildings with comparable use such as Long John Silver, Rigaberto's/Rodolfo's Taco, etc. for a reduction of $49.00 per square foot, Full Cash Value of $127,592. Parcel No. 105-16-001P - Comparable sales used by the Assessor are not comparable to the subject property, as the uses, design, and construction are entirely different. Requesting a Full Cash Value of $532,720, which is $120,720 more than the value, which can be justified. Parcel No. 105-06-020C - The subject property is an apartment complex, which was converted to affordable housing with approximately 2.22 acres split off to Calvary. The property was then purchased for $250,000 with a grant of $115,000 from DOC. Requesting a Full Cash Value of $250,000 to reflect secondary improvements/renovations. Mr. Phillip Leiendecker, County Assessor, recommended the following: Parcel No. 106-70-135 - Reviewed property and explained that comparable #1 is valued per A.R.S. 42-13203, Comparable #2 is listed with greater depreciation due to age, Comparables #3 and #4 were not comparable due to the fact that they are listed as full service restaurants. All land values are valued at $4.00 per square foot along Fry Boulevard. Recommended no change. Parcel No. 105-16-001P - Square footage was reduced from 14,977 to 14,759 based on computerized calculations of perimeter dimensions. Equity improvement comparable listed on petition at $28 a square foot is a strip store and is not comparable to a business office. Recommended no change as sales and equity of office building support 2003 valuation. Parcel No. 106-68-148 - Income approach indicates a valuation of $243,440. Recommended no change as current valuation is considered to be more equitable pending market based revaluation of medium size apartment complexes. Parcel No. 105-06-020C - Market analysis indicates a valuation of $17,600 per unit to be appropriate. Recommended no change, as the sale price of $400,000 was considered valid due to the fact that the seller received this amount at closing. A motion was made by Supervisor Newman and seconded by Supervisor Thompson to uphold all of the Hearing Officer decisions made on August 20, 2002 except for those decisions made on Parcels No. 106-58-148 and 106-70-135 in order to allow further research. The motion unanimously carried.

PLANNING AND ZONING
ITEM 19 - DOCKET CP-02-03, RESOLUTION NO. 02 - 76, AMENDING THE COCHISE COUNTY COMPREHENSIVE PLAN SECTION 102.1.E WATER GOAL AND POLICIES - TABLED ITEM -- Planner Mark Apel explained that in December, 2001, the Planning Commission recommended that the Board approved some minor changes to the water policies in the Comprehensive Plan. These revisions are meant to bring the policies up to date to better reflect the recent efforts of the County to address water issues Countywide and in the Sierra Vista watershed. These changes were advertised in all the major County newspapers and a public hearing was held on July 18, 2002 to present these changes. Additionally, the proposed changes were posted on the County website for the public to peruse. The public feedback was minimal. Some of the major proposed revisions are listed below:
E. WATER CONSERVATION GOAL AND POLICIES
(Language changes are printed in bold.)
Goal: Sustain an adequate, safe water supply through water conservation measures; incentive programs; education; conservation and enhancement of natural recharge areas; and cooperative multi-jurisdictional planning
Comments: Water is a limited and limiting resource throughout the County but certain areas face more immediate issues. Arizona Revised Statues 11-821.C (3) allows all counties to specifically plan for development as it relates to available water resources

POLICIES:
15. The County will use its most current water resources inventory of available surface water, groundwater, and effluent supplies to evaluate the potential impacts to local water supplies from master development plans, rezoning, special uses, major amendments to this plan and other major developments.
18. County will pursue methods for individual homeowners and businesses to decrease water use through incentives, education and various zoning mechanisms.
19. In order to minimize or mitigate water usage, golf courses and other high water uses shall be permitted only as Special Uses.
20. The County shall implement a joint development plan for the Sierra Vista Sub-watershed, or portions therefore, through intergovernmental agreements and a joint planning effort with those incorporated cities of the Sub watershed that choose to participate, pursuant to ARS 9-461.11 and ARS 11-951. The joint development plan shall address water issues that may include existing and proposed mechanisms for conserving water, vested property rights, incentive programs, implementation schedules, and other issues as they relate to development in the sub-watershed. The County may implement joint development plans for other basins, sub-watersheds, or portions thereof, as necessary.
21. The County will work with agencies and organizations throughout the County, as necessary, to address regional water resources issues as they relate to growth and protection of the County's natural resources.
Supervisor Thompson made a motion, which was seconded by Supervisor Newman, to adopt Resolution No. 02-76. The motion unanimously carried.

ITEM 20 - DOCKET R-02-02, RESOLUTION NO. 02 - ____, AMENDING THE COCHISE COUNTY ZONING REGULATIONS, ARTICLES 4,5,15,17,18, 22 WITH REVISIONS THAT ADDRESS MASTER DEVELOPMENT PLANS, PLANNED DEVELOPMENT ZONING DISTRICT, CITIZEN REVIEW PROCESS, NOTIFICATION, AND WATER CONSERVATION SITE DEVELOPMENT STANDARDS - TABLED ITEM -- Senior Planner Mark Apel explained that Master Development Plans (MDP) are useful tool for both developers and County Planners to obtain consensus and agreement on the way an area is developed. MDP's differ from site plans as they address the "bigger picture" rather the minutia of a detailed site plan. It is the goal of the Planning Commission and the Planning Department to enhance both the public's ability to propose large scaled, well planned development projects in the rural area and the Commission's and the Board's ability to evaluate the issues associated with such projects. Consequently, a number of changes are being proposed to simplify the process and still provide good planning for the County. Some of the triggers which might require an MDP could be:
1. A proposed change of an existing Growth Category D, Rural Area designation, to be applicable to an area that is not contiguous to an existing Growth Category A, B, or C area.
2. A proposed zoning amendment for ten acres or more, if the amendment includes multiple zoning districts and a mixture of new residential and non-residential zoning districts;
3. A proposed zoning amendment that includes a Planned Development (PD) Zoning District
4. A proposed rezoning to Heavy Industry in a Category D area that has the potential to include more than one principal use
5. A proposed major amendment to the Comprehensive Plan that is submitted for the purpose of authorizing one or more developing projects.
Another proposed revision would delete the current provision that if the Board of Supervisors take an action on a master development plan which is substantially different that the Commission's recommendation, this issue must be revisited by the Commission. By deleting this provision, the approval or denial of a MDP and a PD Zoning District by the Board is consistent with the authority given to the Board by statutes. The proposed changes were advertised in all the local newspapers, a public hearing was held on July 18, 2002 to present these changes. The public also could view these amendments on the County's web page. Very little feedback was received from the public. Mr. Apel mentioned that under the Growing Smarter Statute (11-829B), the Board of Supervisors is mandated to hold a public hearing for each rezoning application and special use applications. The notification range would be 1,500 feet in Category D and 300 feet in all other categories or half the width of the subject property whichever is greater. The Board mentioned that in the County 300 ft could mean that one or two property owners would receive notification of a project, which could affect an entire neighborhood. Consequently, the Board requested that the Planning Department review this notification limit with the goal to increase it. This item was tabled until Monday, September 9, 2002.
