

Clues to Amelia Earhart disappearance still turning up
Team hopes to visit Pacific atoll to look for DNA

Published: 04.01.2007

Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan, her navigator, photographed in front of their twin-engine Lockheed Electra in Los Angeles in May 1937.

Nearing Earhart's vanishing point

A new book, "Finding Amelia," examines the possibility that Amelia Earhart and her copilot Fred J. Noonan may have landed on Gardner Island.

